

WOVEN LUXURY

Woven leather is normally associated with luxury brands of handbags and designer belts, you can now get the same level of luxury and craftsmanship in a new range of door levers and door pulls made by Turnstyle Designs, the English manufacturer of design lead iconic ironmongery.

Specially commissioned woven tube made in Italy especially for Turnstyle is carefully bonded to plated brass door levers and pulls. The leather, as with all Turnstyle's products, is strong and durable and will age beautifully with use. Initially stocked in a dark brown leather, there is a far larger collection of colours available to order with a small minimum order level.

Door pulls are stocked as 300 and 400mm centres but can be made to order up to 1.5m long. The full range of metal finishes are available with the woven range.
